

Reflection Challenge

Family and Culture

What is my story you ask? Well my story is being around different cultures and people that make me who I am. What inspires me is that I want to be great! To me What is your Story is where you came from. I came from two different cultures and being around one of them just makes me happy to be in their family. My two cultures are Latino and African American. I think it is cool hearing the way they fought to be equal and it makes me glad to be me.

My story is being around my family and different cultures and hearing about the fights to be equal, just makes me who I am.